SPELLING CONTEST

Continued From Front Page.

The pupils were given 100 words from their spelling book, the same being written instead of spelled orally. After the 100 were completed, the papers were handed in, and corrected. It was found that only one pupil—Burr Bennett, the Derby school—had spelled every word correctly. Second place was tied between Ruth Hines, of the Bostick school, and Cliff Sandford, of the Lewar school, each missing three words. Joe Baucom, of Ellerbe, and Johnnie Patterson, of Derby, missed but five each. Henry Shaw, of Ellerbe, came fifth with only 7 words misspelled. Robert Covington, of Rockingham, was sixth with 11 words wrong, and Maggie Emiline Smith, of Cordova, seventh with 12 bad words. The remainder were further down the list, one young girl getting as many as 60 wrong.

After correcting the papers, the two who tied for second place—Ruth Hines and Cliff Sandford—were called back and 50 words were called out for them to write down. When their papers were corrected, it was found that Cliff Sandford had the fewer misspelled words, and so won out as a member of the team to go to Raleigh.

The pupils spelling, and their schools, were:

Burr Bennett and Johnnie Patterson, of Derby.

Beulah McDonald and Ruth McPherson, of Ledbetter.

Joe Baucom and Henry Shaw, of Ellerbe.

Earl Reynolds and Ida Bennett, of Robert.

Ruth Hines and Lillian Bethune, of Bostick.

Johnnie Little and Robert Covington, of Rockingham.

Fred Jarrell and Earl Dennis, Baldwin (Mangum) school.

Effie Pate and Beatrice Childers, of Rohanen.

Mary Thompson and Mary Ann Ingram, of Hoffman.

Lillian White and Maggie Emiline Smith, of Cordova.

Bertha Anderson and Charlie Hart, of Pee Dee.

Pauline and Dora Nye, of Cameron school.

Lucy Perkins and Blanche Snuggs, of Zion School.

Cliff Sandford, of Lewar school.

The following teachers were here to attend the match: C. Grady Garrett, Pee Dee; John Clifton Terry, Cordova; Mrs. D. A. McKay, Cameron; Misses Lena Harris and Kate M. Johnson, Baldwin; Mrs. Lorella Schafer, Osborne; D. A. Clark, Robert; Miss Mamie Credle, Zion; Miss Meriel Groves, Rockingham; Mrs. D. L. Culbertson, of Ledbetter; Miss Ethel Chauvin, of Robert; M. FARM DEPARTMENT roots are the safest and quickest means of getting a good sod. Graze only lightly the first year in order to allow the runners to completely cover the ground. Then after frost and before heavy freezing weather, turn the whole with a turn plow and thus prevent the possibility of these runners freezing out the first winter. The following spring, every joint on these runners will make a new permanent sod.

Kind of Land for Bermuda.

Land that will grow nothing else will grow some Bermuda, but don't conclude by this remark that it is best by any means. It pays as well or even better to put Bermuda on good land as to put cotton on good land. Remember that the first cost of Bermuda is practically the only cost save keeping down shrubbery, while cotton is cost from start to finish, including lost fertility against gained fertility with the Bermuda. Cows, hogs, sheep and other animals do their own harvesting, and while the profits do not look so large, they are there just the same, in your bank account of fertility, to continue their good work for an indefinite period of time. Thus we see that we must begin to remove the DOLLAR from in front of our eyes in order that we may begin to accumulate wealth—real wealth, not a few paltry dollars, to spend in questionable pursuits like producing cotton on a large scale under weevil conditions.

I am wondering just now how many farmers will glance at this and with a probable shrug of the shoulders impatiently lay the matter aside 'till 1923, and then want to hire a kicking machine for themselves because they acted so foolishly! Are we forgetting that Sir WEEVIL will be our farm manager for the future?

Well, it is said that necessity is the mother of invention. May we call on her while she is near—knock unto her while it is possible for her to open unto us. This thing of changing our agricultural system is not a "presto, change" matter by any means.

Had you thought "why can't I plant a good acreage of pasture this winter?"

Sow the large grain crop first. Then get busy with Bermuda.
